

Martin Yiu, Fresh BEM Graduate Receiving CIOB (HK) Outstanding Student Awards 2019/2020

Please join us in congratulating Martin Yiu Man Kit, our Building Engineering and Management (BEM) graduate, on receiving the CIOB (HK) Outstanding Student Awards 2019/2020!

With a very long history, the Chartered Institute of Building (CIOB) (HK) advocates the application of good project management practice as an inspiring management strategy which offers challenging opportunities to ambitious construction management professionals. In addition, since the CIOB (HK) launched its Outstanding Student Awards years ago, it has been holding the Awards annually with the aim of promoting excellence in construction project management. Nominations from relevant universities and institutes are welcome. In July 2020, following the nomination from Prof. Albert Chan, Head of BRE, the CIOB (HK) underwent an examination of Martin's final dissertation under a range of strict criteria. Martin's outstanding work pertinent to construction project management is an indispensable attribute for the success in the Awards.

Martin, this year's fresh graduate, says, "I am very happy and honored to obtain the Outstanding Student Awards from the CIOB (HK). This accolade is not only recognition for my endeavor in study, but also an encouragement for me to keep working hard. I will seek self-improvement and be a better self in future. Thanks again for the affirmation and selecting me as one of the Awardees!"

Martin, Keep up the good work!
