理大的地產及建設測量學系不單為我們提供各方面的相關專業課程知識，包括經濟、金融及法律等，也為我們準備了有關專業範疇的應用實習培訓。理大一直非常注重實習，因為通過這方面的培訓能加強我們的工作經驗，以及加深我們對有關行業的認識和了解，為個人將來的事業發展打好根基。概括而言，我們的專業知識主要來自這些『硬實力』的課程培育，而我們自身的思辨能力、溝通技巧，以至安全意識及專業操守等則由我們自己通過不同途徑的實踐來累積，並從中領悟其奧妙所在。

BRE provides a professional and engaging study environment, with highly qualified professors actively involved in the industry. Highlights of my time in the Department have included industrial workshops, participation in a mentorship scheme and an internship experience. This, combined with strong professional networks and hands-on courses in the Surveying programme, is what makes studying at BRE unique.

With the well-designed programme and all the resources here, I have acquired a diversity of skills with which I can tackle challenges in various areas. Studying at BRE has further confirmed my interest in real estate and enhanced my confidence.

Lai Wai Yeung, Raphael

Studying for a BSc(Hons) in Surveying at PolyU was great fun and intellectually challenging. Now working as part of a professional cost planning team and facing a substantial volume of designs waiting to be translated into various cost plans within tight deadlines, I very much appreciate what BRE offered me.

Taught by highly experienced and approachable academic staff, I was not only equipped with extensive professional construction knowledge but also gained practical skills such as critical analysis, presentation and communication skills, and global and business awareness. These skills are now particularly useful in my work. The Mentorship Scheme also laid a solid foundation for me to build a strong industry network, which has proved to be invaluable in my career since graduation. The decision to spend my undergraduate years at PolyU was the wisest choice I have ever made.

Lee Yeuk Ying, Krystal [2010 The Most Outstanding PolyU student]

Following graduation, I joined the Swire Group as a Management Trainee seconded to Swire Properties. With Swire, I dealt with luxury retail brands as part of the Pacific Place retail team, and analysed and executed various investment acquisition and disposals in Development and Valuations. My current role is in residential sales, working on the launch of several residential projects under the new First Hand Sales Ordinance. My job is challenging and I am grateful that the training I received from BRE equipped me well.

Thanks to the BRE mentorship programme, I had the chance from Year 1 to receive professional training from my mentor, who organised an in-house training series on useful topics in the property industry. This greatly inspired me, and later I started my own study group with friends and explored property sector performance in equity markets. Work-Integrated Education at BRE provided a perfect link between unpolished students like us and leading institutions in this industry. I treasure the experience I gained as part of the DTZ valuation team, where my colleagues drove me to inspect hundreds of village houses.

BRE is where I learned about my passion and strengths. Various resources available in the library backed up my technical knowledge, and I am particularly thankful to lecturers and tutors who were helpful in answering my questions. It was their effort that paved the way for me into the property world in which I now work.
